MARINA MILL

Renowned for the flair and style of its exterior furnishing fabrics, family-run Marina Mill has added a new fabric to the Extex collection that will definitely up the glamour stakes on deck. Haze is a plain-weave shot acrylic with a shimmery, almost metallic lustre that changes colour depending on the light and angle. It may be gorgeous and oh-so-sophisticated, but Haze is also an outdoor performer with all the durability required for yachting life, and in 21 different colourways will set the stage in both brilliant sunshine or ambient evening lighting.

TAI PING

In his designs for Tai Ping's new Revanche collection, Emmanuelle Payard has used the Earth as his muse, finding inspiration in trees, fallen foliage, the sun's reflections and even the process of evolution. Woven into the pile are vegetal and fossil shapes, whose organic essence is captured with natural fibres such as silk, sisal, cotton and soy. Nature, too, has ordained the palette of vegetable pigments and earthy colours. There is also the Caravan collection - a beautiful window into Moroccan culture, drawing on the patterns, designs and architecture of the land of designer Yasmína Kossmann's childhood.

TRIBÙ

Versus, the Mediterranean-inspired contemporary outdoor furniture line by Tribù is extended this summer with the Terra collection by designer Bram Bollen. The sophisticated but simple play of lines in the lounge creates a serene classical look, blurring the boundaries between indoor and outdoor. Bollen has chosen Canax, a revolutionary material that marries the strength of high-tech polyeter with the natural look of hemp for his collection. Tribù is a family-run Belgian company that specialises in innovative furniture with ergonomic comfort and refined finishing.
